Welcome to the 117th Annual Meeting

As a Fort Worth native, I am pleased to welcome you to my hometown for the 117th Texas State Historical Association Annual Meeting.

Under the leadership of Carl Moneyhon, the Program Committee has done an excellent job of organizing this year’s program. Forty-one sessions offer you the opportunity to engage with leading authorities in such fields as Mexican Borderlands, Texas Revolution, women in Texas history, oral history, African American history, and more.

Special events this year begin with the Women in Texas History Luncheon on Thursday. Laura McLemore will speak about “Adele Looscan and the TSHA” following the presentation of the Liz Carpenter Award. The Presidential Reception to welcome Gregg Cantrell as the 2013 President will be held at the Ashton Depot with facsimiles of the Texas Legation papers from Texas Christian University’s Center for Texas Studies on display. After the reception, take a stroll through downtown, where you will find an abundance of restaurants and see Fort Worth’s night life.

Start Friday with the Book Lovers’ and Texana Collectors’ Breakfast, featuring a discussion on “Collecting Texas” by Thomas Kreneck and Gerald Saxon. At noon, the Association will honor significant contributions to the study of Texas history at the Fellows Luncheon and Presentation of Awards, which is followed by a presentation from Char Miller on “Water Conservation in Texas.” The Association’s business meeting will follow the luncheon. I highly recommend you attend the business meeting to learn about what is happening in the Association and to vote on amendments to the bylaws. In partnership with Heritage Auction Galleries, the Live Auction will be held Friday afternoon. A portion of every sale will be donated to the Association. Friday evening is the President’s Banquet, where I will address you one last time as president.

I encourage you to take one of the Saturday tours to see what more Fort Worth has to offer. Doug Harmon will lead a tour through downtown followed by the Stockyards and its cattle drive. Take a guided tour through the Amon Carter with former director Ron Tyler. Or you can learn more about Tarrant County with a tour of the courthouse and the Tarrant County Archives.

A special thanks goes to the Local Arrangements Committee chaired by Paula Tyler, the Program Committee chaired by Carl Moneyhon, and the Women in Texas History Luncheon chaired by Stephanie Cole.

I hope you will enjoy the Annual Meeting in Cowtown. Discover the latest research for the work you do, expand your knowledge, make the connections between the past and the present, and reenergize your commitment to Texas history.

Dear TSHA Members and Friends,

Like President Watson Arnold, I am thrilled that the Association is hosting its 117th Annual Meeting in my hometown of Fort Worth. The city, as is its wont, has welcomed us with open arms. We have received generous support from local businesses and institutions. Texas Christian University’s Provost and Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs, AddRan College of Liberal Arts, and History Department have all made generous contributions to support the meeting and to recognize the incoming TSHA president and TCU’s Erma and Ralph Lowe Chair in Texas History, Dr. Gregg Cantrell. We are grateful to all of our meeting sponsors for helping to make our meeting a success.

I want to thank Archivist Dawn Youngblood of the Tarrant County Archives for choosing the photographs and writing the captions included in this program. I especially like the photo on page 27 of the Navy dirigible Los Angeles hovering over the new Montgomery Ward Building in 1928. Though I wasn’t there at the time, as I have had to assure some of my younger colleagues, I certainly remember shopping there throughout my life, and I am grateful, especially with all the changes taking place on Seventh Street, that the building still exists, finding new life as Montgomery Plaza.

As always, I am inspired by the range and quality of the scholarship reflected in this program, which is a testament to the vitality of the study of Texas history and the commitment of our members. It is also the direct result of Chief Historian Randolph B. “Mike” Campbell’s diligent work with the Program Committee over the course of a year.

Finally, I want to thank President Watson Arnold, the Association’s Board of Directors, and the administrators of the University of North Texas for all that they do to ensure that this organization continues to thrive and that Texas history remains an important part of the lives of all Texans.

With Texas pride,

J. Kent Calder
Executive Director

Quiet Room

The TSHA will make a Quiet Room available in the Renaissance Worthington Hotel Charter Oak Board Room.

The room is available for all presenters as a quiet place to await their next session or for Fort Worth-area attendees with no hotel room to sit for a few minutes of quiet time. It’s a room to escape temporarily the hubbub of the Annual Meeting to read prior to your next session or next appointment, to prepare a few notes for those comments you didn’t quite finish, or to rest tired feet.

To allow everyone to enjoy the Quiet Room, please avoid:

- cell phone conversations—there are hallways and numerous other venues throughout the hotel and elsewhere for these conversations
- extended conversations

Since the room will not be monitored continuously, it will be a simple room set with smaller-sized tables with chairs and trash baskets. TSHA staff will check the room periodically, but the space will be self-policing: please bus your own table if you dine, throw away any unwanted papers or other trash, straighten seating if you move tables and chairs around, etc.

For serious concerns or issues, report to the TSHA Registration Desk in the Renaissance Worthington Hotel on the first floor. If there are problems or repeated distractions, the TSHA reserves the right to close the room for further use.

The Junior Historians of Texas program will celebrate its 75th anniversary in 2014 and TSHA needs your help to and past Junior Historians and sponsors.

Visit the Diamond Jubilee page of the TSHA website to share information about you and your fellow Junior Historians.

We will add you to the mailing list and keep you informed about the Diamond Jubilee celebration next March in Austin.

Tarrant County lawmen take a stance with weapons inside the old jail behind the county courthouse around the time the infamous Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid were in town in 1901. The men are identified as Jesse Rudd and Luke T. Dillard. Unfortunately for L. T. Dillard, the jail cells were not always so empty; he was ambushed by eight inmates in 1901, surviving a severe beating by the escapees. Undeterred from law enforcement, he later became a Fort Worth Police officer. A portrait that appears to be Walter T. Maddox (Sheriff 1880–1886) hangs between the unoccupied jail cells. Fort Worth’s first mayor (1873–74), Dr. W. P. Burts, gave the site of his home on Second and Commerce for a fire station. This second Fort Worth Fire Station No. 1 on that site was designed by Sanguinet & Staats and built by Samuel A. Tomlinson in 1907. The station served the northern part of Downtown until 1980, when it underwent restoration as part of the City Center Development. Instead of fire hoses and sirens, visitors to the station on the corner of Second and Commerce streets can now enjoy the “150 Years of Fort Worth” museum housed inside. This stone Tarrant County Courthouse completed in 1878 was already too small less than five years later, so by 1883 the original dome was replaced with the 16-foot high mansard roof shown allowing for well ventilated rooms in the third story. The octagonal bell tower sported four 8-foot diameter clock dials so that time could be told from any direction. The earliest Tarrant County Courthouse in Fort Worth was built in 1859 – a simple brick rectangle that burned in March 1876, destroying most of the county records. The courthouse depicted was intentionally razed in 1893 to make room for the current 1895 Courthouse. Credit: Tarrant County Archives

The Navy dirigible Los Angeles floats over the newly constructed Montgomery Ward Building on its way from the Panama Canal Zone in September 1928. The vessel was acquired from Germany as war reparations following World War I. The helium plant north of Fort Worth where the Los Angeles fueled served the Navy’s great dirigibles, including the Shenandoah, through 1929. This and numerous other photographs of the Montgomery Ward Building under construction and newly opened were donated to the Tarrant County Archives by Howard McPeak, past manager of the Montgomery Ward’s Display Department. The Isaac Parker Cabin has been moved twice. In 1927 Amon G. Carter purchased this 1848 dogtrot originally built east of Birdville by Peters Colonist Isaac Parker and had it installed on his Shady Oaks Farm retreat. After Carter’s death in 1955, the Amon G. Carter Foundation donated the historic structure to Log Cabin Village, where it can be viewed by the public to this day. While claims are made for the Parker Cabin as the oldest structure in Tarrant County, the Torian Cabin, built by fellow Peters Colonist Frances Throop on his headright in 1845, may hold that honor. That cabin was moved to the main street in Grapevine in 1976. Credit: Tarrant County Archives
