Welcome to the 121st Annual Meeting

On March 2, 1897, an organizational meeting of the Texas State Historical Association (TSHA) was held in Austin, lighted by two lanterns, as the electricity had failed. On March 2, 2017, 120 years later, we will be opening the TSHA 121st Annual Meeting at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in downtown Houston, in a highly-energized Internet age. We expect this to be one of the largest of our Annual Meetings, with 46 scholarly presentations, and we welcome all to attend.

Over the past 120 years, TSHA has stayed true to its original 1897 mission:

The promotion of historical studies; and, in particular, the discovery, collection, preservation and publication of historical material, especially such as relates to Texas.

In recent years, TSHA has been a pioneer in delivering its historical content through multiple media, including the printed Southwestern Historical Quarterly, the online Handbook of Texas, the printed and online Texas Almanac and extensive eBooks, audio books, and web content. The TSHA website, including the Handbook of Texas, now receives over 20 million page views per year from more than 200 countries and territories.

I have been honored to serve as President this past year and welcome Paula Marks, who will become our President on Friday, March 3rd. I offer special thanks to Lynn Denton, my able predecessor, and welcome Sarita Hixon as our First Vice President. Paula, Lynn, and Sarita are examples of the increasing leadership of accomplished women in our Association.

This has been a very productive year for TSHA. Thank you to our dedicated and capable staff, led by CEO Brian Bolinger, and to our steadfast Board of Directors, for all that they have given and achieved. Some notable milestones of the past year include:

Transition to Austin – We returned to the campus of the University of Texas at Austin in 2015 and have now completed that transition. We appreciate the strong support of the University of Texas History Department, and especially that of Dr. Jacqueline Jones, the Department Chair and holder of the Walter Prescott Webb Chair in History. We also appreciate the staff who moved to Austin and those who have joined us over the past year.

Chief Historian – We have recently recruited an extraordinary new TSHA Chief Historian, who will be announced at the Business Meeting on Friday, March 3rd. We will also be recognizing the major contributions of Professor Randolph “Mike” Campbell, who will retire as our Chief Historian this summer after 10 years of service.

Handbook Initiatives – TSHA continues to expand the content of the Handbook of Texas, with significant additional entries this year in the African American Handbook and the Tejano Handbook. We launched the Handbook of Houston, the first of our regional Handbooks, and will celebrate it publicly on March 3rd. Thanks especially to Houston Endowment for its support of that initiative. We will also announce a major new Handbook initiative at the Annual Meeting.
Record Outreach – Our outreach into multiple communities, including elementary and secondary school groups, has reached record levels. Anyone who has not had the privilege of attending Texas History Day, sponsored by TSHA, should do so. It exudes more energy and excitement than the Academy Awards, as first and second place finishers are invited to attend National History Day. Thousands of students and family members attend the awards ceremony each year. The 2017 Texas History Day competition will take place on Friday and Saturday, April 28th and 29th, in Austin. There are many opportunities to volunteer, including as judges.

Legacy of Texas – In October 2016, TSHA debuted its new web store, Legacy of Texas (www.legacyoftexas.com), which drew great interest and support over the holidays. Legacy of Texas provides our members and the broader public with a quality collection of books, maps, flags, and other items of Texas historical interest.

Texas Independence Relay – Professor Andrew Torget of the University of North Texas led another successful 200-mile overnight relay run from Gonzalez to the San Jacinto Monument, in support of the Handbook of Texas. He has agreed to lead our team for the fifth time this March 25th and 26th, and will record a cumulative 1,000 miles and about $150,000 in fund raising. Many thanks to Andrew and to his team members!

Now, we invite you to enjoy the scholarship and camaraderie of the 2017 Annual Meeting. The record 46 sessions reflect a broad and inclusive Texas history; the result of ever expanding and deepening research. Please make note of the joint sessions with other organizations and the special events at different venues that are meant to better reveal Houston’s and Galveston’s rich history. Houston is currently celebrating its 180th birthday, dating back to 1837, when Houston was the Capital of the young Republic of Texas, so we are especially pleased to host the 121st Annual Meeting here.

Each year, Annual Meeting expenses increase. Listed on the preceding page are our 2017 Annual Meeting underwriters and sponsors, whose corporate and personal generosity keeps our individual costs as low as possible. Please thank them heartily for helping make this Annual Meeting an enriching experience in every way.

Finally, thank you to our Program Committee, chaired by Virginia Bernhard, and to our Local Arrangements Committee, chaired by Allyson Cook, for their hard work. We welcome your attendance and hope that you leave with an even stronger commitment to TSHA and to the study of Texas history.

Stephen C. Cook
TSHA President, 2016-2017
Dear TSHA Members and Friends,

Welcome to the 121st Texas State Historical Association Annual Meeting! Organized on March 2, 1897, TSHA is delighted to celebrate its 120th birthday in Houston. This year’s Annual Meeting promises to be one of the largest and most exciting in recent memory. Among the highlights of the event will be a Thursday night reception at the Julia Ideson Building, Houston’s main library for nearly fifty years from the 1920s until the 1970s. Friday’s President’s Dinner will be in the Crystal Ballroom of the former Rice Hotel, which is located on the site of the capitol of the Republic of Texas from 1837 to 1839.

The past year has been highly productive for TSHA. As we arrive in Houston, our membership is as strong as we have ever seen it. The number of people interacting with TSHA on an annual basis has never been as high. Last year, we had more than 5 million visitors to TSHA’s website, and our social media audiences have never been larger.

Now that we are settled in Austin, we are making a conscious effort to be more active in communities across the state. A good example of this is the new Texas Talks series. This series has been so popular that we have begun filming it at various locations in front of a live audience. To date, we have traveled to Canyon, Commerce, Fredericksburg, and San Antonio. All events have been huge hits. Our education programs continue to grow, and History Day continues to be the largest and most awarded program of its type in the country. Our book publishing continues to win awards, with two in the past year, and the latest edition of the Texas Almanac is currently for sale. We recently launched the new Legacy of Texas ecommerce website, and at this meeting in Houston, we will introduce the Handbook of Houston. As you can see, the staff at TSHA has been quite busy and has done a spectacular job once again this year.

We would like to thank outgoing President Steve Cook for his guidance over the past year as well as the entire Board of Directors for their continued leadership and advice. We are looking forward to working with incoming President Dr. Paula Mitchell Marks and anticipate continued growth and success during her presidency.

With forty-six sessions and numerous special events, the 2017 Annual Meeting offers many opportunities to participate in learning about our past and preparing for our future. Please enjoy your time with other lovers of Texas history and TSHA, and thank you for your support!

With Texas Pride,

Randolph “Mike” Campbell
Chief Historian

Take a field trip to the highly acclaimed Bryan Museum in Galveston. Founded by Mary Jon and J.P. Bryan, former TSHA President, the museum collection is housed in the historic and sensitively renovated Galveston Orphans Home. The Bryan Museum comprises one of the world’s largest collections of historical artifacts, documents, and artwork relating to Texas and the American West. Our tour will be led by Mr. Bryan. Boxed picnic lunches will be provided on the bus.

The Walter Prescott Webb Historical Society works through college and university history departments to encourage students to discover, research, write, and publish the history of Texas as they find it where they live.

Join us for the Walter Prescott Webb Historical Society Annual Meeting and Chapter Reports

Friday, March 3, 2017
Magnolia
2:30 PM - 4:00 PM
Ask how you can affiliate your existing student organization or start a Webb Society Chapter at your institution.

Submit your student research papers for this prestigious award. Winners receive a cash award, and select papers are published in Touchstone, the undergraduate journal of the Walter Prescott Webb Historical Society. Deadline to enter is mid-January of each year. The contest is open to all lower division, upper division and graduate students.

Future Annual Meetings

2018 Award and Fellowship Nominations
The 122nd Annual Meeting will be held March 1–3, 2018, in San Marcos, Texas, at the Embassy Suites San Marcos Hotel, Spa & Conference Center. Book award nominations are due October 9, 2017. Fellowship nominations are due December 29, 2017. More information can be found on our website www.TSHAonline.org.

2019 Call for Proposals
The program committee is now calling for proposals for sessions and papers to be presented at the 123rd Annual Meeting. A complete session proposal includes: a) session title; b) complete name, address, phone number, a one-page vita, and institutional affiliation (or hometown, in the case of lay historians) of the session chairman, paper presenters (either two or three), and commentator (for sessions with two paper presenters); c) titles of the two or three individual papers; and d) a brief summary of each paper. Proposals must be received by February 1, 2018. Download a program worksheet on our website at www.TSHAonline.org or contact Charles Nugent at charles.nugent@TSHAonline.org.
